Monday, January 27nd	“Read My Shirt Day” Wear a shirt that others can read – the more words the better (keep it school appropriate).
Tuesday, January 28rd	“Be A Super Reader &amp; Writer” Dress as your favorite super hero to symbolize being a “SUPER READER and WRITER”. English teachers – take 5-10 minutes and engage students in a lesson about who you would describe a “super hero” author to be (favorite author), introducing your favorite book to the class. (optional – this would obviously be after your Mental Health Lesson – short and sweet but a conversation about it would be GREAT ☺) Show the book, a picture of the author, etc.
Wednesday, January 29th	“Be A Fan of Reading” Wear your favorite sports team or college shirt to support reading. Reading Teachers – encourage students to check out books and offer incentives for doing so this week ☺ * They will already receive candy for checking out a book*
Thursday, January 30th	“Crazy about Reading” Crazy socks or crazy hair to show how crazy we are about reading – or both! Read to a younger sibling or relative to encourage reading at a young age. (students) Maybe an incentive could be given for a picture of this happening?
Friday, January 31st	“Stop, Drop, and Read” Wear red like a stop sign to “STOP, Drop and Read” whenever possible ☺ During 7th period, 1:35-1:50, encourage every student to drop everything and read. Have students bring something they would enjoy, check out a book before this time (see Reynolds), or have something ready for those that do not have anything. (high interest or subject related) No assignment attached, just encouraging reading for enjoyment. Teachers participate too! (optional)
